Meet Melissa Friedman, the new director of The Jewish Theological Seminary's Wohl Office of Alumni Affairs.

New Website

Visit the revamped alumni website to learn about new benefits and resources and the different ways JTS is strengthening its alumni relationships.

New With You

New job? New community? New spouse/partner? New degree? Share your information so we can let you know about resources and events in your area.

New Networking Opportunities

It's never been easier to connect with alumni spanning many decades and all five schools. JTS graduates are reuniting and creating informal social and professional networking opportunities online. Join Alumni of The Jewish Theological Seminary \(JTS\) on Facebook and The Jewish Theological Seminary on LinkedIn today and stay informed. Job opportunities, pictures, and events will be posted to these sites.

New Benefits

Whether you live in the area or thousands of miles away, you can take advantage of retail perks with your JTS Alumni ID card. Email Melissa to receive your new ID. JTS alumni enjoy discounts at Hertz Rental Car, AT&T Wireless, JTS Barnes & Noble Bookstore (on campus), and West Side Judaica (New York City), to name a few. Visit the website for a complete list of benefits. New benefits will be announced online.

New Resources

Alumni Yellow Pages makes it easier for JTS alumni to secure services and obtain goods from fellow alumni. Check here first to support your fellow alumni. Email Melissa to promote your service.

New Events

The Wohl Office of Alumni Affairs strives to create opportunities that bring alumni together. Regional programs and events will be posted on the website. View pictures

New Programs

JTS, in partnership with the Rabbinical Assembly, Union Theological Seminary, and Auburn Seminary, is launching the Clinical Pastoral Education Program this fall. The part-time program is geared toward the development of the reflective practitioner, the art of pastoral care, and advanced skills for meeting the pastoral needs of congregations. JTS received a Revson Grant to fund this prestigious and groundbreaking multifaith program.
