

Exciting happenings to be thankful for in November . . .

Be Thankful for Art

The Jewish Theological Seminary, in collaboration with The Jewish Museum, will present a day of hands-on workshops, multimedia performance, and commentary called A Day of Reinventing Ritual on Sunday, November 15, at JTS, which is entirely free for alumni. This family-friendly event was developed in conjunction with the museum's new exhibition, Reinventing Ritual: Contemporary Art and Design for Jewish Life, which surveys the explosion of new Jewish rituals, art, and objects that has occurred since the mid-1990s.

Studio Armadillo: Hadas Kruk (Israel, b. 1970) and Anat Stein (Israel, b. 1972), Hevruta-Mitza, 2007, plastic chess board, thirty-two knitted skullcaps.

This event is FREE for alumni and includes lunch. (It's also free for children.)

A great introduction for children ages seven and up to JTS and new Jewish ritual and art.

Contact Melissa Friedman to receive your Alumni ID in advance.

Be Thankful for Photos

Submit your photos—from all decades—to be used as part of the JTS-wide photo gallery. We are particularly interested in pictures of you working in the field: real-life pictures of you leading your community, teaching, engaging, etc. If your pictures pre-date the digital era, you can scan and email them to Melissa Friedman, or mail them—we will send them back to you.

Be Thankful for Amazing Faculty

JTS faculty are committed to our students. Two faculty were recently recognized by students for their excellence in teaching.

Dr. Jonathan Milgram \(LC '91\)

Dr. Walter Herzberg

And JTS faculty are headed your way. They travel the nation and beyond to teach, share their work and publications, and support JTS. Faculty welcome alumni and look forward to seeing you in your community and professional and personal travels. Find out when a faculty member will be in your area.

Be Thankful for Diverse Services

New alumni services were recently posted to our Alumni Yellow Pages. If you have a service you want to promote, please complete the online form.

We Are Thankful for Alumni Support

Thank you for your continued support. Your gift makes it possible for JTS to fulfill its mission of educating the best and brightest students. Donations to JTS fund scholarships; improve residence halls, computer labs, and classrooms; and create the next generation of Jewish leaders.

Thank you for your support and generosity.

Happy Thanksgiving!
