

Get on Board at 3080 . . .

Get Up To Date

Get Involved

Get Promoted

Get Informed

Get Talking

Get Spiritual

Get Discounts

Get Connected

Get to See JTS in Your Community

Get JTS in your Home or Office

Get Well-Read

Get in Touch

Get Up To Date

New students arrived on Sunday, August 30, and The Jewish Theological Seminary has been energized ever since. Their excitement is palpable, and I'm sure thinking about it brings back fond memories of your own orientation days.

Get Involved

Calling all alumni . . . interested in meeting future colleagues? Want to connect with current students and expose them to myriad opportunities in your mutual field of interest? Consider hosting students for a casual meal in your home. Be a part of this brand new alumni program and kick off the 2009-2010 school year as an alumni host for Student Suppers. Student Suppers offer alumni and students the unique opportunity to build relationships rooted in shared educational experiences. Do not let geography hold you back—remember students return home during school breaks. Alumni interested in hosting students should email Melissa Friedman.

Get Promoted

Post your service to the JTS Alumni Yellow Pages—the fastest growing resource for JTS alumni and the larger Jewish community. JTS alumni provide diverse services, ranging from balloon sculpting to legal and financial counseling to commissioned artwork.

Get Informed

JTS is proud to announce all our alumni news—from publications to placements, new children to new partnerships. Visit Alumni News to share your news and see this quarter's announcements.

Get Talking

Help us promote this year's first-ever five-school Prospective Student Weekend (PSW). In addition to the annual List College PSW from October 23-25, all four graduate schools will participate in A Taste of JTS from October 23-24. As alumni, you know first-hand the wealth of academic, Judaic, and cultural resources available to JTS students. Help JTS attract a new generation of brilliant leaders—spread the word on this wonderful weekend.

After PSW, keep connecting JTS with future alumni by referring a student to JTS.

Get Spiritual in 5770

Looking for a place to celebrate the High Holy Days? Look no further—for decades, JTS has served as the makom tefillah (place of prayer) for the JTS community on the High Holy Days. To attend services at JTS this year, you must register in advance. Get more information or register here.

Get Discounts

The number of discounts for JTS alumni is growing. Visit the Alumni Resources and Benefits page to save on your next visit to Disney World, a night at your local movie theater, or affordable accommodations at JTS for your next trip to NYC. You can even secure financial counseling while you navigate the world of financial aid for your own children.

Get Connected

The Alumni of The Jewish Theological Seminary \(JTS\) group on Facebook is 400 strong and growing. If you haven't already done so, I invite you to join the other alumni who are already reconnecting and learning about nationwide job opportunities. JTS alumni are also connecting professionally and socially on The Jewish Theological Seminary \(JTS\) group on LinkedIn—sign up today and strengthen your ties to JTS.

Get to See JTS in Your Community

Dallas: Jonathan Milgram \(LC '95\), JTS assistant professor of Talmud and Rabbinics, serves as the scholar-in-residence at Congregation Anshei Torah in Dallas, Texas, September 11-12

Atlanta: Hazzan Henry Rosenblum serves as the scholar-in-residence and guest cantor at B'nai Torah in Atlanta, Georgia, September 12-13.

NYC: Dr. Benjamin D. Sommer, JTS professor of Bible, participates in a Library Book Talk about his latest work, The Bodies of God and the World of Ancient Israel at JTS, October 12, 7:30 p.m.

Get JTS in your Home or Office

Don't let being away from 3080 keep you away from JTS learning and community. You can download lectures and weekly Torah commentary from iTunes, where they can be accessed 24/6, free of charge. You can hear JTS Chancellor Arnold Eisen's vision for the future of Conservative Judaism, or learn how Jewish eating practices determine Jewish identity. Download our weekly Torah commentary, written by a rotating roster of JTS rabbis and scholars. Visit us on iTunes, subscribe to receive the latest updates, and bring JTS with you—virtually.

Get Well-Read

JTS faculty are prolific authors. Visit the new JTS Press website to read about and purchase new books written by some of your favorite professors.

Get Torah

For more than fifteen years, JTS has distributed a weekly commentary on parashat hashavua' to more than thirty thousand people. Sign up today to get Torah From JTS sent to you by email or download it to your computer at http://www.jtsa.edu/Conservative_Judaism/JTS_Torah_Commentary.xml.

Get in Touch

Help us keep you connected to the JTS community. Please take a second to update your information online by completing the Alumni Contact Form. Encourage your friends to share their information so they too can enjoy all the benefits.