

Seasons of Reckoning: The Practice of Moral Accounting

With Karenna Gore, Center for Earth Ethics, Union Theological Seminary and Burt Visotzky, JTS

5 Questions, Adapted from the Global Ethical Stocktake (COP 30)

1. Why do we so often deny or ignore what science and traditional knowledge say about the climate crisis and share or tolerate misinformation, even knowing lives are at risk?
2. Why do we continue with production and consumption models that harm the most vulnerable and are not aligned with the 1.5°C mission?
3. What can we do to ensure that rich countries, major producers, and consumers of fossil fuels accelerate their transitions and contribute financing for these measures in the most vulnerable countries?
4. What traditions, histories, or practices (cultural, spiritual) from your community teach us to live in greater harmony with nature?
5. Considering that we need to guarantee diversity in the collective, how can we mobilize more people, leaders, corporations, companies, and nations to support just and ethical changes in combating the climate crisis? What ideas and values could inspire us in this mission?

Other Sources to Consider:

Laudato Si' (2015)

Paris Agreement (2015)